

Street Tree Portraits, Providence, RI

I photographed 100 street trees on a bicycle transect through different neighborhoods in Providence, RI. The way a culture treats its trees may say a lot about how it treats the environment as a whole. These tree portraits have been displayed at numerous galleries and have an accompanying slide show.

Download the photographs click here