

Regenerative Saltmarsh Walkway, Barrington, RI

This is a walkway designed to restore a hierarchy of tidal flow through a degraded saltmarsh in Southern Rhode Island. The project envisions a walkway attached to steel piling. The piling opens certain canals and plugs others.